

BlueCom Conflict Minerals Policy

Together we can help prevent the trade in conflict minerals

BlueCom is committed to responsible sourcing and supports the humanitarian objective of ending ongoing violence funded by the trade of conflict minerals from the eastern portion of the Democratic Republic of the Congo and surrounding countries ("Conflict Region").

BlueCom supports U.S. legislation on the supply of conflict minerals, including the rules adopted by Securities Exchange Commission. Conflict minerals include gold, tin, tantalum and tungsten. The U.S Secretary of State may designate other minerals in the future.

Our Commitment

- BlueCom endorses the objectives of the U.S. legislation to address the trade of conflict minerals.
- BlueCom will not knowingly procure minerals from the Conflict Region unless they are certified as conflict-free by an independent third party.
- BlueCom is committed to complying with the due diligence requirements to determine the source of conflict minerals used within its products and expects its suppliers to assist with this task.

Our Expectations

BlueCom expects all of its suppliers to comply with the BlueCom Supply Terms and Conditions relating to conflict minerals and to carry out sufficient due diligence to ensure that their supply chain is conflict-free. The aim is to ensure that only "conflict-free" materials and components are used in products that we procure.

As a supplier of electronics, telecommunication and IT equipment, BlueCom is committed to ensuring social responsibility in our supply chain and helping to prevent the trade of conflict minerals which finance or benefit armed groups in the conflict region.
